For many retailers, one of the most common daily accounts payable (AP) processes—matching and linking vendor invoices to purchase orders and authorizing payment—is both time-consuming and labor-intensive. For this critical task, the most skilled and trusted staff members must do the work—which takes them away from other important duties. Because senior people are busy, vendor invoices can end up waiting hours in their inboxes. That means AP reports don't reflect the latest vendor invoicing activity.

What retailers need is a way to streamline this process and make it easy for less-experienced staff to complete, so it can be done promptly, accurately, and with less effort.

Cut labor hours and improve the accuracy of your AP information

Eagle AP Assist makes it easy for anyone on your staff to record and process vendor invoices—right up through the vouchering step—by replacing manual data entry with optical scanning, automating the PO-linking step, and storing the images in a secure cloud-based document system that provides you with full access and management capabilities.

At the heart of this solution is the Eagle AP Assist viewer. Once a vendor invoice is digitally scanned, optical character recognition (OCR) technology is used to convert and store the information Eagle AP needs. No data entry is required—saving time and preventing data entry errors.

Once scanned and stored, AP Assist Viewer then automatically links the vendor invoices to the appropriate purchase orders. Your staff confirms those links, then—if the amounts on the POs and invoices are within your set tolerances—Eagle can automatically create the appropriate AP vouchers, authorizing payment.

Because your senior staff doesn't need to find this AP information in their inboxes, it's completed sooner. With more accurate, more up-to-date AP reports, you'll enjoy better-informed decisions and positive vendor relationships—simply because you have a more accurate picture of paid and unpaid invoices. The solution frees your senior staff to focus on more important challenges, so you enjoy significant labor cost savings.

With Eagle AP Assist, you'll speed and streamline an essential daily process, save significant labor costs, and get the right staff doing the right work.
