

Future Workforce Factors to Fuel Business Growth

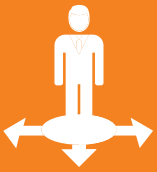

A new study * shows organizations aspire to meet next-gen workforce needs but worry about:

Worker Retention

Overload

Knowledge Transfer

Recruiting

Where Workers, Information and Processing tasks meet

Business Management

solutions can help address the biggest talent management concerns that business executives have today

68%

want to free valuable staff from mundane tasks

67%

say automating technology processes is key

43%

are concerned employees may leave due to work overload

Technology leadership and a skilled workforce were top growth drivers cited, yet nearly 61% of executives are not recruiting Millennials for their organizations. Learn More

* The research, commissioned by Epicor and conducted by MORAR Consulting, questioned business leaders across the globe on the key drivers and challenges regarding business growth. MORAR surveyed 1,824 managing directors, and heads of finance, operations and IT in businesses with 100+ staff spanning the manufacturing, distribution and service industries (and in businesses of all sizes in Retail) in Australia, Canada, China, France, Germany, Hong Kong, India, Mexico, Singapore, Sweden, the UK, and the US. (MORAR, Growth Survey, 2015).

EPICOR

epicor.com